

Make every single coil guitar silent

The best way to get your guitar quiet (even if you find yourself in a studio that has poor grounding) is to get a piece of wire aprox. 2' long. On one end solder an alligator clip. Keep this wire in your accessory bag, so that the next time buzz is a problem, attach the alligator clip to one of the strings behind the bridge or the bridge itself, and twist the other end around the baby finger of your right hand (like a ring) or the pinkie, it works every time.

Available at the singlecoil-webshop (www.singlecoil.com/shop.html)

